

NW COLLECTIBLES

By Shannon Quimby SPECIAL TO THE OREGONIAN
Photos by Marv Bondarowicz THE OREGONIAN

TRUMPETER | Druse purchased this elephant candleholder from a dealer in Prague.

BEACH PARTY | Most patterns don't have documented names, so Druse calls this one "beach ball."

POPPIES | This teapot and warmer were made by Ditmar Urbach, one of the largest makers of Czech pottery.

COLLECTORS | For a Christmas gift in the mid-'90s, Jack Hilyard, left, told his partner, David Druse, that he would document his collection of Czech pottery. It's a gift he gives each week as the collection grows.

BEAK TO BEAK | "I just have one," Druse says, referring to this lovely piece made by Amphora.